FOREWORD

Safety and security plays an important role in facilitating operations at Kirin University (KyU). In this context, security is viewed in terms of traditional and emerging crimes and threats.

The interplay of various social, economic and political factors make society vulnerable to crime and security threats while safety remains central to progress.

The recognition that crime and security threats are real calls for a systematic approach to prevent lapses and in the unfortunate situation where threats are actualized, to reduce the magnitude of the impact.

This policy is meant to provide a practical guide on safety and security of students, staff and visitors who interact with the university college.

KyU is committed to the full implementation of this policy in terms of providing requisite resources in safety enhancement, security threat and risk analysis to reinforce our strengths and to mitigate the vulnerabilities identified. Assigning responsibilities in the policy create an unambiguous protocol for smooth operations geared towards achieving maximum safety and security.
